CENTRAL URUGUAY RAILWAY.

The Montevidean papers have published our letter to Mr. John McColl, subscribing for the Durazno Railway, which is as follows—

B. Ayres, Nov. 3rd.

Dear Sir,

Permit us to congratulate you on having taken the first step in the great national undertaking of the Central Uruguay Railway. We entertain a lively interest in all that relates to the welfare and progress of the Banda Oriental, and beg you will put us down for five shares, i.e. £250 sterling, towards said railway. We have instructed our agents, Messrs. Sprunck, to pay the first instalment of $20 per share, as also the monthly calls according to prospectus.

Wishing you every success in the enterprise, to which our humble co-operation will be given as far as in our power.

We remain, &c.
M. G. & E. T. MULHALL,
Editors of the Standard.

NEW AMERICAN PUBLICATIONS.

Our attention has been called by Mr. Charles A. Spear, of the firm of Stephens & Co., to a sample book entitled "National History of the War for the Union."

Mr. Spear has come to this city with a view of establishing an agency for the sale of valuable literary and illustrated works, one of which is the above-mentioned publication. We have examined the work, and can recommend it highly: the author is a member of the New York Historical Society, and has access to all the valuable papers and documents on file there and at Washington, many of which, we believe, are now for the first time published, rendering this a work to be sought after by the student and relied upon by the scholar. It is beautifully illustrated with highly finished steel engravings, including battle scenes by sea and land, and full length portraits of naval and military heroes from original paintings.

We are glad to see that this splendid work has met in this city with the success it deserves, and judging from the subscription list has been equally well received elsewhere. The work is one we can commend, not only to the citizens of the United States, but to all who take an interest in that country, and who wish to learn more of that great war—unequalled in the annals of history.

It is gratifying to see agents for valuable publications of this description visiting this country, and we believe the gentleman above referred to will give satisfaction to all who may honor him with their patronage.

We wish him every success.

EXTRACTS FROM "NOTES ON THE AMAZON" BY S.R. TAVARES BASTOS.

THE TAPAJOS.

It is not a dissertation on all the confinents of the Amazonas that I intend to write. The reader will not exact a minute geographical notice, but elucidations useful to commerce and conducing to the especial end of these Notes, I will commence with the Tapajós.

It is on the banks of the Tapajós that the interesting city of Santarém, with 500 inhabitants, is found; which already carries on a regular trade with Mato Grosso.

It occupies an excellent position at the depth of what may be called a little sea, for there the waters of the Amason, with those of its great tributary extend over an area of many leagues circumference. Even now the canoes of Diamantino, a town of Mato Grosso, thirty leagues to the north of Cuyabá, descend hither loaded with the excellent guaraná made by the Mauês Indians and others, which is sold in Cuyabá where it so appreciated.

Before the establishment of the Paraguay line of steamers the Cuyabanos came regularly to Santarém to provide themselves with salt, ironwares, iron, wines, etc. Two months, before my passage through Santarém (October 17, 1865) canoes from Diamantino had come to buy salt, which cost more than 100$ the alqueire in Cuyabá, in consequence of the war. In the meantime the freight of these canoes is not less than 40$ to 50$ the alqueire.

The Tapajós is perfectly navigable by steamer from Santarén at the mouth to the first fall, named Intaituba, which is about 50 or 60 leagues above. Of these, Apuhy and Costá offer the greatest difficulties. The greater part consist of rapids some of which can be forded, but at others it is necessary to drag the canoes over land.

The margins of the Tapajos and their neighborhood are occupied by many Christianized Indians; and of these the Maués and Munderuçus tribes are well known. The Munderuçus are a numerous tribe, estimated at 20,000 by the English traveller Bates, and are the best Indians of the Amazon, from their good habits, their love of labor, their industry and cultivation of the soil.

The navigation of the Tapajós, as I said, does not present difficulties up to the falls. Having passed these, the canoes can go up still to a point only three to five leagues from Diamantino. Thence the goods go by land, on horseback, to Cuyabá, a distance of 30 leagues only. Besides this land way there is another supposed preferable; namely, by taking the Arinos, a tributary of the Tapajós, a port is come to, 18 miles by land from the course of the river Cuyabá above the city of the same name, were it possible to draw the canoes by land to the Cuyabá, which is navigable from this point to that City.

This line should have been tried for the mails during the war; the news would come with punctuality by that way. It appears also that as a steamer could go up to the first fall the remittance of troops would have taken less time. The corps of Pará should have marched to Cuyabá, and thus the terrible mortality that annihilated them in the south would have been avoided, seeing that they would not have experienced a rapid change of climate in the region of the Tapajós and Cuyabá.

Formerly Santarém supplied the surrounding settlements with goods, and it is destined to be the entrepot of Monte Alegre, Almeirim, Prainha, Obidos, of the towns of Tapajos, and certainly of Diamantino, Cuyabá, etc., if the present communication is improved, that is by the establishment of a steam tugboat on the Tapajos to its falls, the constructing of some ranchos for the use of the boatmen during the passing of rapids, and by the creating of a police post on this side of Diamantino.

This done it is probable that the trade of the Cuyabá and the S. Lorenco will frequent this line of communication. In the first place foreign goods are cheaper than in Rio de Janeyro, at Pará, and in the second place the freights would be less.

In truth the trip in the packets from Pará to Santarém is only two and a half days, and from Santarém to Cuyabá in canoe (as it is now done without profiting by the 60 leagues navigable by steamers), 30 days when light, and 40 to 50 when heavily loaded. On the other hand the voyage to the River Plate, from that to the Paraguay and up to Cuyabá requires a steamer about 30 days, without counting the unloadings and delays in the ports, the trip from Montevidéo to Cuyabá occupying not less than 24 days in the packets.

An exploration of the fall, and the study of the needful improvements in the land journey, are necessary.

Not to speak of other valuable products it suffices to indicate ipecacuanha, an article of great price in the market and which could be exported by the fluvial way of the Arinos and Tapajós. Santarém collects and plants cocoa, gathers also Brazil nuts and gum-elastic, &c. It rears many cattle, and already possesses a sugar mill worked by steam.

The cattle from its fine pastures might constitute an excellent branch of commerce if the transport were easy; in the meantime the steamers carry them regularly, some to Manáos and some to Belém. But the future of Santarém is as a true agricultural country. Cotton has been already tried and its product appeared good.

Two leagues from Santerén lie the mountains that, beginning forward of Gurupá from the left side of the Xingú reach to the Tapajos. These mountains are still more fertile than the others on the northern side of the Amazon, in the municipality of Monte-Alegre, and are magnificent for cultivation.

They are covered with vast forests; and to the south of them are immense plains covered with dense woods and with gigantic trees, wilds that civilized man has not yet opened nor yet knows. Situated on dry ground that rises gradually to the mountains of which I speak, on the brink of two great rivers, since one part is turned towards the Amazon and the other to the Tapajós, in a place swept by fresh and constant breezes, Santarém enjoys a climate reputed most salubrious. In the neighborhood of the city a family has resided for many years whose heads are a German and his American wife, who, still vigorous, live with their children a life similar to that of the natives.

Parting from the port of Tatú, on the Caranaby an arm of the Maués, you can come by a traverse of 14 leagues to the side of the Tapajós. In 1863, Major Coutinho made this trip in 4½ days and said that a road made through this terrene would shorten the distance, and it is high though flooded in part during winter. As Maués is the region of the production of guaraná, the road would facilitate the passing from the Upper Tapajós to Maués, to the Cuyabanos (who are great consumers of this costly and precious product of the Indians), in place of their needing to descend that river and supply themselves at Santarém at the mouth.

These elucidations, though not novel, justify, it seems to me, the importance that is attributed to the navigation of the Tapajós. With the Amazon open is it not reasonable to suppose that Santarén will become a considerable commercial point, and that a little steamer to tow canoes and flats will be needed to economize time in the 50 or 60 leagues perfectly navigable between the mouth and the first fall? Will it not be necessary later to qualify Santarém for direct commerce.

In any case the Government should be awake and regulate the fiscal provisions on the Amazon, in such a manner as not to obstruct the growing exigencies of the territories bound to the great river by its numerous tributaries.

The Mendoza influence on gold completely gave way to-day, and the buyers yesterday evening were the first to sell this morning. Even in National Bonds there is no great effect—they rule slightly weaker, but not sufficiently so to lead to the belief that this rather disgraceful provincial jail riot is regarded by merchants as important.

The National Government sold gold again to-day, and it was noticed that some outsiders were also selling.

As to the probability of a home loan, as stated by one of the morning papers, none on 'Change believe in it—there is not sufficient capital in the country—and the scheme of making the Provincial Bank on shares is regarded as all but an impossibility. Our remarks on the steady withdrawal of the paper money deposits and the increase of specie deposits in the Provincial Bank, are endorsed by nearly all the merchants and brokers. The position of the Bank is each day becoming more critical, and it is feared by next month the Bank will hold only gold, and be obliged to sell specie to obtain paper money to meet the requirements of the Institution. Either a limited paper omission or a selling of specie must ensue if the present schemes, debates, etc., are tolerated, for although paper money is at present easy in the market, it is very tight in the Bank. No discounts are made, and those who owe in gold when renewing have to pay in paper.

Wool is now coming in very fast, and the market is beginning to show a slight downward tendency. In the south market to-day there were very few buyers. The plaza and station are both crowded. Up to the present the French and Germans have been sustaining the market, but Frenchmen are now beginning to drop off, and this morning the best wool and the highest prices were paid by an English barraquero.

The time-sales of specie to day were as follows:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| For Saturday | 138,000 | 22 75 |
| November 30 | 130,000 | 22 85 |
| Dec. 31st | 22,000 | 23 00 |

In National Bonds:
4,200 cash, 43.
1,800 do 43.
And in after hours sellers at 42½.

Exchange is active, and nearly £200,000 sterling passed. The rates to-day showed a slight advance, 49½ to 48¾. From Montevideo we hear the rate is 51½ to 51⅝, commercial bills. The London and River Plate Bank has passed £20,000 sterling at 51d. As regards wool in Montevideo all the large lots are being shipped by the owners to Europe. Small lots offered at 37 rls. Dry hide market slack and looking down. General business good.

There were no charters to-day: shipmasters and merchants take up the case of recruiting drunken sailors with much warmth. It was said on the Bolsa that Mr. Santa Maria obtained the release of three men to-day from the Retiro. All parties ask what is Mr. Lettsom about, as the fountain-head of the abuse is in Montevideo.

The Telegraph line will begin to work early next week. The wires are now complete to the office, and were yesterday inspected on the top of the Hotel San Martin by Mr. Wells, of Messrs. Ashworth and Co.

The demand for paper money to-day was a little more active, and the discount rate slightly advancing.

These lands are bounded on the N. at their extreme point by the line of military posts, and in the vicinity of a reserve destined by the Government of this Province for an agricultural colony; on the S. by lands of the Public Domain; and on the E. by Public Lands, by the property known as Las Prusianas of D. Martino de Elia, by lands belonging to the Colony of San Carlos, and others belonging to Mr. Tesandro Santa Ana, Mr. Talbot, and other English proprietors, who have lately purchased in that locality a tract of fourteen square leagues for the purpose of establishments of estancia.

The description of these lands and other circumstances in reference to their sale, which may be required by the Public, will be seen in the Auctioneer's advertisement, published simultaneously with this; and for further information application may be made to him, or to the Committee, Calle de Aduana, No. 100.

SEWING MACHINES.

The Public have long felt the want of a Sewing Machine which should be something besides a mere toy, something USEFUL as well as ornamental. Putting Machines in order that are constantly becoming deranged is perplexing work, and when intricate Machines are used time times in ten the parties become disgusted and lay them aside as worthless. All the requirements of a Good Machine are centred in the "Wood," and they have given universal satisfaction wherever used. They are so simple a child can operate on them; they are powerful, still, and fast; they will sew any fabric, from the thinest muslin to the coarsest cloth or leather, with equal facility, and in the hands of one with common judgment will never get out of order. All Machines are guaranteed to be what they are represented, and instruction to operate given to satisfaction of all parties. The above Machines can be had only at No. 109½ calle Florida, were they can be seen in operation. 12p, n13

SAVINGS BANK.

BANK MAUA AND CO.

101--Cangallo--103.

BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depositary for their savings.

The sums deposited in that very important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks, artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. of this city, following the noble example of their firm in Montevideo, now offer the same facilities in this city, and will open a Savings Bank at No. 103 Calle Cangallo from nine a.m. till Three p.m. on Week Days and on Sundays and Holidays from Ten a.m. to Twelve m., for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighborhood.

Buenos Ayres, September 19, 1866.
P.P. MAUA & Co.,
WILLIAM LESLIE.

CONDITIONS.

First—The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty-five Dollars currency or one Silver Dollar upwards.

Second—The interest allowed is six per cent. (6 p. %) per annum, which is liquidated every six months.

Third—The depositors can at any time retire the whole or part of the money deposited.

Fourth—Only the money deposited exceeds twenty-five thousand dollars currency, or one thousand dollars silver, the depositor, if he wishes can open an account current, according to the rules established by the Bank.

Fifth—In case the depositor loses his pass book, it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.
